Community Center Programming Enhancements – Food Element

motion | recommendation

Recommendation to consider a food element as part of CRA financed Community Center programming is requested.

background

At the July and August 2017 CRA advisory board meetings, the board was presented with a proposal by YouthCan Inc, a not-for-profit organization located within the CRA boundary. The proposal was to provide financial assistance to the organization for social endeavors within the CRA. After further discussion, it was determined that the focal point of the programming would focus on food delivery to youth in the district. At the conclusion of the presentation and discussion, staff direction was to explore the implementation of a food program to be taken place at the Community Center and research and review all logistics, liability, and relationships pertaining to the program for consideration at the September meeting.

In addition to this review, staff has also provided a summary of current programming at the Community Center under the direction of CRA funding. These include youth and senior programming including but not limited to yoga, midnight basketball, and after school programs. A summary is included as backup.

Program Review: The attached excel sheet provides a comparison of four potential models for board consideration. The first two options mirror a program provided by the City of Eatonville delivering meals to youth on a once a week and three days a week schedule respectively. The target is 75 youth per week including additional costs for preparation, kitchen utility, and labor as part of their total cost. Options three and four consider a ‘Teen Chef Program’ targeted at youth providing both a meal as well as an opportunity for culinary education with the intent of raised awareness to proper nutrition and life skills. The difference is offered in frequency, differentiating between once or twice a week.
Resources/Timing: After a review by Parks and Recreation staff, resources would need to be added to the department as one time and ongoing expenses to add programming for options one and two. This would include the purchase of additional kitchen utilities for preparation and service, additional licensures, health code certificates, and dedicated staff. However, the Teen Chef Program falls into a template currently used by Parks staff requiring only administration time as the primary capital to get it up and running.

The implementation schedule of a food element would also be dictated by the size and scope of the program. Funding over $10,000 would likely trigger the request for proposal process elongating the time table.

What the CRA Plan says: The CRA plan does not speak to food resource management directly under the social element of the CRA plan. However, the plan does state a priority should be the support of programs that promote health and wellness. The plan further asserts these social youth and recreational programs should be maintained under the leadership of the Parks and Recreation Department.

Any option considered by the board would be subject to tracking and accountability by the Parks and CRA departments and would follow all obligations as required by each. Not-for-profits such as YouthCan would have the opportunity to be selected as a vendor under the Parks department for proposal implementation under this element. For accounting purposes, any funding would be added to the already budgeted $40,000 for Community Center activities.

alternatives | other considerations

Consider option one as a pilot program for implementation
Consider option two as a pilot program for implementation
Consider option three as a pilot program for implementation
Do not consider any option

fiscal impact

$6,000- $44,000 from unallocated CRA revenue to the Community Center Programming account.

<td>Teens Chef Program - Targeted at kids aged 12 to 17, and indirectly their parents who will enjoy gaining another cook in the house. Course covers safety, sanitation, knife skills, mother sauces, and basic techniques needed to survive in the kitchen. Classes will be held at the Winter Park Community Center. During these classes kids will learn the basics of cooking along with providing themselves with a hot meal that they made. We will be using local restauranteurs who have graciously offered their time and expertise to work with our kids. Each week the head chef will provide us with a grocery list for that week's meal. We are expecting 10-15 kids per week to participate. The premise of this program is to give teens the tools to feed themselves.</td>
