National Public Works Week | May 17-23, 2026

WHEREAS, the nation's public works professionals focus on infrastructure, facilities, and services that are of vital importance to sustainable and resilient communities, and to the public health, high quality of life and well-being of Winter Park; and

WHEREAS, these infrastructure, facilities and services could not be provided without the dedicated efforts of public works professionals, who are responsible for rebuilding, improving and protecting our nation's transportation, stormwater management systems, public buildings and other structures and facilities essential for our community; and

WHEREAS, the City of Winter Park's Public Works & Transportation Department is comprised of dedicated public servants who manage and provide services related to these components to ensure the city continues to be highly coveted for its livability, safety and sustainability; and

WHEREAS, it is in the public interest for the citizens, civic leaders and youth in Winter Park to gain knowledge of and maintain an ongoing interest and understanding of the importance of public works and public works programs in their communities; and

WHEREAS, the theme for National Public Works Week this year is "rooted in service, powered by community," acknowledging that the roots of service run deep in public works, and while some public works are visible, others may be hidden from view; however every project, seen or unseen, powers the connection between service and the people it supports; and

WHEREAS, we urge all citizens to join us as we recognize our public works professionals, engineers, managers, employees and volunteers, for the substantial contributions they make to protecting our national and local health and safety, and advancing quality of life for all.
