MORSE

 WINTER PARK HISTORY MUSEUM

How did so many people end up in this state?
It's partly due to the dreamlike, color-saturated postcards that created an irresistible tropical paradise urging folks world-wide to come visit.

Hello Sunshine! weaves the histories of Winter Park and Florida through these stunning, sometimes humorous, and often surreal, postcards.

Located in the Farmers' Market Building
200 W. New England Avenue • Winter Park, FL 32789
Tues. – Fri. • 10am – 4pm Sat. • 10am – 2pm
Free and open to the public

Are you familiar with this sculpture, which is just one of over 90 pieces in the city's Public Art Collection? This aluminum sculpture, titled White A, was created by Jane Manus in 1993. It was generously donated to the city in 2011 from the private collection of Micheline Kramer in honor of Summer Kramer. It is located near the stairway that leads to the Winter Park Scenic Boat Tour at the east end of Morse Boulevard. The Public Art Advisory Board recently approved funding to refurbish White A, so please stop by and see it on your next visit to the boat tour.

The city's Public Art Advisory Board is pleased to announce the launch of the city's first-ever online Public Art Collection. Accomplishing one of its top goals of 2024, the board worked tirelessly with city staff to create the new online catalog which features over 90 pieces of art representing various mediums from artists around the world. Each piece of the city’s collection is now featured online with specific details including the artist, creation date, medium, photo and location of the art pieces, which are all installed in public city facilities or open spaces.

The City of Winter Park gratefully welcomes substantial art piece donations to be added to its public art collection. Donations must be presented to the Public Art Advisory Board for consideration, and reviewed for approval by the City Commission. To present donations for consideration, please contact coneil@cityofwinterpark.org.
