

Club

ouples determined to show everybody their affection and ardor via the exchange of gigantic anthropomorphic plush ani-l your bitter kin at the Black Heart Social Club, the Will's Pub version of an anti-Valentine's Day party. No excessive ons or vexatious themed candy here - just affordable alcohol and pure emo classics from the Get Up Kids, Jimmy the Day. Come here to be lonely, and who knows - you might just go home with the miserable soul who ivette Cordeiro

N. Mills Ave. | willspub.org | $10 is poised to be the latest next big thing in country music. Coming off a string of self-released albums that eschew both and hipster-country watering down, Jinks has self-proclaimed "real country" fans salivating at the promise of a new record, s year. And with the country scene primed by the success of artists like Jason Isbell, Sturgill Simpson and Chris Stapleton g the corporate template for country music success out the window in their own way - the potential for a traditionalist like alpable. Catch him at the Plaza Live while you still can. - Thaddeus McCollum

Sweeney | 7 p.m. | The Plaza Live, 425 N. Bumby Ave. | plazaliveorlando.org | $29-$202

16-17

the rock fest for the discerning crate digger - don't go casually name-dropping Black Keys or White Stripes here unless de in New York City" moment - is an impressive level-up from last year's event. We're not saying they were slouching in t, but the devil is in the details and the horned one's fingerprints are everywhere. Entry gets you an actual bag of goodies, iban crew are taking a road trip to DJ the shindig, our own Nadeem Khan is hosting, and the Saturday night is headlined by a shadowy supergroup with members also doing time in the Mummies and the Ogres. And if you know ANYTHING about , you should know that we are suckers for monster-themed surf rock done by delinquents in domino masks. Untamed Youth, robables, the Hall Monitors and the Othermen also loom large, aided by a heavy cast of locals. Get hip. - Matthew Moyer

Phantom Surfers, Baby Shakes, the Delusionaires, the Woolly Bushmen, the Blind Owls and more | 6 p.m. | Will's Pub, 1042 N. Mills Ave. |

ndowekly.com

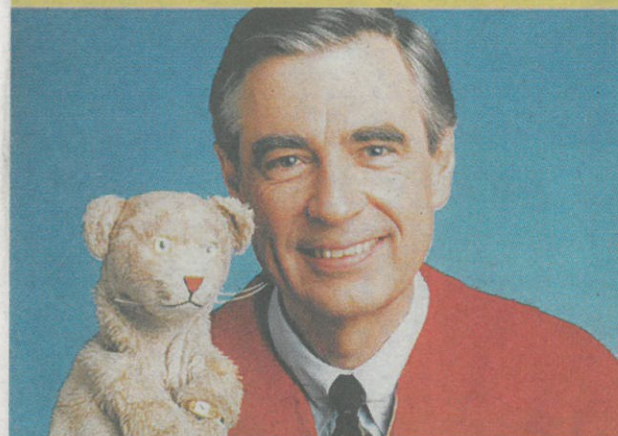

Friday-Monday, Feb. 16-19

Weekend of the Arts

ART

It's much too easy to take for granted the wealth of cultural opportunities available in Winter Park. "Oh look, there's Billy Collins, former poet laureate of the United States," we might say offhandedly. Or, "Huh, the largest collection of Louis Comfort Tiffany's work in the world," or even, "Hmm, one of the longest-running Bach Festivals in the country." It's time to wake up and smell how lucky you are, people! This weekend, the city of Winter Park launches a coordinated attack to get you out into the streets (and the parks, and the museums, and the library), the first of what they hope to make an annual tradition. More than 20 arts groups offer free performances, exhibitions, or admission Friday through Monday, from a night of jazz at Blue Bamboo to a grand choral masterwork in the Knowles Memorial Chapel to "Be My Neighbor Day," a tribute to Rollins alum Fred ("Mr.") Rogers. Pro tip: This would be an excellent time to slip into the Morse Museum for free and stand in awe before the massive, mind-blowing Albert Bierstadt painting "The Domes of the Yosemite," which was unveiled Feb. 13. - Jessica Bryce Young various times and locations throughout Winter Park | cityofwinterpark.org | most events are free; some events require reservations

Saturday, Feb. 17

Be My Neighbor Day

FAMILY

We're all in agreement that Tom Hanks is the perfect casting for an upcoming biopic about Fred Rogers, host of beloved children's program Mr. Rogers' Neighborhood. And this weekend, Winter Park's Central Park hosts the annual Be My Neighbor Day just a few blocks from Rogers' alma mater, Rollins College. The day in the park may be geared more toward young fans of Daniel Tiger's Neighborhood - the current PBS kids program populated with animated versions of characters from Rogers' "Neighborhood of Make-Believe" - but Rogers' legacy will still get acknowledged through educational panels from the Winter Park History Museum. Won't you be our neighbor? - TM noon-3 p.m. | Central Park, Winter Park, 251 S. Park Ave., Winter Park | wucf.org | free

Saturday, Feb. 17

Orlando Chili Cook-off

EVENTS

It's no longer chilly outside, but that's not stopping the party. The Orlando Chili Cook-off will be held in Festival Park this Saturday, and it's the city's tastiest way to spend a afternoon. The day will include opportunities for sampling more than 100 different chili recipes from local restaurants and chefs, live music, games, competitive eating with the "World Chili Eating Challenge" and a kids zone for the little chili heads. Even if you can't take the heat, don't stay in the kitchen: There's something here for everyone's taste buds. - Linzie Lawton noon-6 p.m. | Festival Park, 2911 E. Robinson St. | orlandochilicookoff.com | $15-$45

Sunday, Feb. 18

Iliza Shlesinger

COMEDY

She's found plenty of success lately, such as her late night talk show Truth & Iliza on the Freeform Channel (formerly ABC Family) and her recently released memoir Girl Logic: The Genius and the Absurdity - and now she's found her way to Orlando for an evening of feminist funny-making. So save your misogynistic excuses this time around, and don't miss the only female comedian ever to hold the title of NBC's Last Comic Standing. - Xander Peters

6:30 p.m. | The Plaza Live, 425 N. Bumby Ave. | plazaliveorlando.org | $25-$110